Dear Christina

EAS 2011, 79th EAS Congress in Gothenburg, a note of thanks

We have been delighted with the response we have received during and following EAS 2011 – overwhelmingly positive feedback on all aspects of the Congress.

We set out to make the 79th EAS Congress in Gothenburg a forum for presentation of highest quality science, promoting exchange of scientific ideas between clinicians and basic scientists, whether young or well-established in their career.

With over 2000 delegates from 64 countries registered, the attendance in all of the sessions was exceptionally high. The location of the exhibition and poster area, and its proximity the session halls and catering facilities meant that the whole area became the focus of intense interaction and scientific discussion.
We achieved our aim.

The facilities provided by Svenska Mässan were of uniformly high quality. Your experience and practical advice helped us make the best decisions in planning, layout and catering, and the services provided by the team there, both throughout all planning stages of the Congress and on site, were most helpful, constructive and professional.

So we would like to express our sincere thanks to yourself and your colleagues at Svenska Mässan for your support of EAS 2011. Our success is due to your efforts. We happily recommend to others Svenska Mässan as a first-rate Congress venue.

Sincerely,
